The Florida Retina Symposium Orlando Delivered Unique Approach to Education —Regional Optometrists attended three day agenda held at Reunion Resort in Orlando—

Orlando, FL (October 5, 2009)—For the third consecutive year, The Center for Retina and Macular Disease produced a high quality educational event specifically for the optometric community. The Florida Retina Symposium Orlando is presented annually and attracted optometrists from around the nation and as far away as Puerto Rico and Canada. This year's symposium was held on September 25th-27th at the beautiful Reunion Resort, Orlando, FL.

In addition to a world class venue, The Florida Retina Symposium Orlando offers a mix of elements that produces a distinctive educational event. Over the three days, attending optometrists learned innovative ways of diagnosing and treating retinal diseases from several nationally renowned speakers. The speakers on hand are considered experts in their fields that ranged from vascular diseases and future treatments such as genetics and stem cells to medical/billing and jurisprudence.

Over the years, Dr. David Misch, Founder of The Center for Retina and Macular Disease acknowledged the importance of educating optometrists to assist the retina specialist in identifying and managing retinal and macular diseases. He mentions, "The Florida Retina Symposium Orlando has become the platform for education in this industry. Our vision is to keep optometrists abreast of the rapidly evolving paradigms in the diagnosis and treatment of retinal diseases".

Organizers for The 2010 Florida Retina Symposium Orlando will announce the symposium location in the coming months.

A limited number of SPONSOR/EXHIBITOR opportunities are available for the 2010 Florida Retina Symposium Orlando. For more information on how to be a part of this experience, contact Eventrics at 877.278.0364
